Notes required to correct or supplement the A volume of the Gazetteer of the Bara Banki district, as required by G. O. No. 1554/1-431, dated the 8th August 1912.

CHAPTER I.

Page 1.—BOUNDARIES AND AREA.

At the time of the census of 1911 the area of the district was 1,127,809 acres or 1,762·2 square miles.

The population was less dense than at the previous census and had fallen to 615 persons to the square mile.

TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

There was a very considerable decrease in the population between 1901 and 1911 and this was more noticeable in the larger villages. In the latter year, out of a total of 2,064 inhabited villages there were 1,853 with less than 1,000 inhabitants, 165 had between 1,000 and 2,000 inhabitants and there were only 41 with a populaton between 2,000 and 5,000.

The urban population in 1911 was 5·39 per cent. of the whole.

Page 2.—PHYSICAL SUB-DIVISIONS.

Again during the famine of 1907-08 there were excellent crops in the lowlying terai lands.

Page 9.—CHAUKA RIVER.

Owing to the silting up of its mouth this river has had very little water in recent years, so that it is fordable in most places which were formerly only negotiable in boats.

Page 12.—THE GUMTI RIVER (LAST PARAGRAPH).

Four of the principal taluqdars of tahsil Haidargarh have their homes on the banks of the Gumti.

Raja Bhagwan Bakhsh Singh of Pokhra lives at Rauni—Mir Bunyad Husain, Khan Bahadur, at Kadirpur—Pande Sarabjit Singh of Asdamau resides at Lakhupur—Chaudhari Mustafa Husain and Fida Husain of Khanpur have their house at Subeha, while at Bhilwal are the head quarters of the taluqa of that name. In many parts, especially at Subeha where there are high banks on one side the reaches of the river are very picturesque.

Page 13.—LAKES AND SWAMPS.

In 1912, 75,150 acres were recorded as covered by water, amounting to 6·66 per cent. of the total area of the district.

Page 15.—WASTE LANDS.

In 1912, the unculturable area had risen to 153,227 acres: the increase being due to changes in the course of the Gogra. Seventy-five thousand one hundred and fifty acres were under water, and 47,189 acres were occupied by roads, buildings and village sites.

Page 16 and 17.—MINERALS.

The rates paid to contractors have risen. For excavating kankar in the Gogra Terai, Rs. 1-8-0 per 100 cubic feet is paid. In the district generally the average rate is Rs. 2 including royalty. Work done by amani is paid at Rs. 1-6-0 per 100 cubic feet. The cost of consolidation is now Rs. 1-4-0 per 100 cubic feet. Coal is now sometimes used for making lime. Lime now costs Rs. 25 per 100 cubic feet.

Page 17.—BUILDING MATERIALS.

The best quality bricks now cost Rs. 10 per thousand. Sal logs from Nepal are sold at Bahramghat at rates up to Rs. 2-6-0 per cubic feet.

Sal rafters are prepared at Bahramghat, where a Lucknow firm opened a saw mill with improved machinery in 1913.

Page 18.—JUNGLES.

An interesting remnant of the old jungles is to be found in the belt of thickets largely composed of bamboos which surrounds the Qila at Jahangirabad, the seat of the Hon'ble Raja Sir Tasadduq Rasul Khan, K.C.S.I.

Page 19.—GROVES.

In 1912, the land under groves was 59,354 acres.

Page 21.—FAUNA.

Wolves are occasionally found in the ravines, but are not common.

FISHERIES.

In 1911, the number of fishermen, including their dependants, was recorded as 107.

CATTLE.

A fair pair of bullocks cannot now be had for less than Rs. 70.

At the last cattle census, taken in 1908, the number of bullocks and male buffaloes was 224,174.

Sheep had decreased in number, being less than 24,000, and so had goats, of which 187,000 were enumerated.

Page 22.—CATTLE DISEASE.

Two veterinary assistants are now kept by the District Board: they have still to encounter a good deal of prejudice in carrying out their duties.

Page 23.—RAINFALL.

The average rainfall in 1907 and 1908 the famine years was 19 and 20 inches and the average for the nine years ending in 1912 was only 36 inches.

Page 24.—HEALTH.

The 10 years ending in 1911 were marked by the prevalence of epidemics and included a bad famine: the total population fell from 1,179,323 to 1,083,867.

The average annual birth rate was 36·72 per mile. The highest was 43·45 in 1912 and the lowest 26·33 in 1909, the year following the famine.

The average death rate was 40·74. The highest was 59·99 in 1911, when there was very severe epidemic of cholera as well as plague. In 1912, the death rate fell to 29·90.

Page 25.—FEVER.

Fever, according to statistics, which however are not very reliable, accounted for 65·4 per cent. of the mortality for the years 1901-11. In 1908, 46,457 deaths were ascribed to this cause, or more than $\frac{2}{3}$ of the total mortality. The year was a famine year.

PLAGUE.

Next to fever, plague must now be reckoned as the most destructive disease known in the district and it seems to find a congenial habitat here. It first made its appearance in 1902 when two deaths from plague were recorded: the numbers of its victims speedily rose, till it claimed a mortality in 1907 of 12,482, or 25 per cent. of the total mortality. The disease continues to visit the district each year. Inoculation has so far proved very unpopular with all classes.

Cholera.

A severe epidemic occurred in 1911, when it caused 15,976 deaths.

Small-pox.

This disease increased during the 10 years ending in 1911, when the annual death rate was 343·40. The highest mortality was 1,728 in 1908 and the lowest 1 in 1909. Vaccination is still very unpopular and there has been a falling off in the number of vaccinations, though the vaccination staff has been increased.

Page 27.—Infirmities.

The district held a high place in this respect in 1911, with a figure of 4,567, being only exceeded in Oudh by the district of Sitapur.

The number of blind persons was 3,166. Deaf-mutes numbered 469 and the number of insane persons was 248.

Lepers have increased to 684.

CHAPTER II.

Page 30.—Cultivated area.

In 1911-12 the cultivated area was 739,580 acres or over 65 per cent. of the whole area of the district. The decrease is due to action of the Gogra.

Page 31.—Culturable waste.

During the famine year 1907-08, the fallow area was as much as 97,749 acres. In 1911, the total culturable area, excluding groves was 175,648 or over 15 per cent. of the whole district. Of this 47 per cent. is recorded as culturable waste and 30 per cent. as old fallow. Land under preparation for sugarcane is also included in this area.

Page 32.—Harvests.

The double cropped area in 1911 had risen to 36 per cent.: the lowest average areas are in parganas Dewa, Satrikh and Nawabganj, where it is about 32 per cent.

Page 33.—Crops.

Poppy is decreasing in popularity and the area under poppy has been greatly reduced. The yield of opium in 1911 was about 11·63 seers per acre. This high yield is probably due to the fact that poppy is now only cultivated in the most fertile lands. In that year the average price paid to cultivators was Rs. 6 per seer.

The number of masonry wells in 1911-12 was 12,559, they were distributed among the tahsils as follows :—

Haidargarh had 4,038, Ramsanehighat 3,953, Fatehpur 2,332 and there were 2,236 in Nawabganj. The number given for Haidargarh in 1902 in the gazetteer is incorrect and should read 3,503. In the same year there were 24,248 earthen wells and Fatehpur tahsil with 7,145 has the largest number of these.

Page 38.—OTHER SOURCES.

In 1912, the area irrigated from all sources other than wells, including jhils and tanks was 43,510 acres.

Page 38.—COST OF IRRIGATION.

Coolies for irrigating are now paid 3 annas a day and a seer of juar per head. Juar costs much the same as in 1902. The daily expenditure is now some Rs. 3-13-0 and it requires at least Rs. 10-1-0 to give an acre of land two waterings.

It now costs Rs. 9 to give an acre two waterings by dhenkli.

The last famine in the district occurred in 1907-08. Owing to drought the kharif crop of 1907 was a failure, and the preceding harvests had been poor, hence the effects of high prices were soon felt.

The centre of the district suffered most. Poorhouses were opened in December at Nawabganj, Daryabad, Rudauli, Fatehpur and Haidargarh; test works started in January and famine was officially declared in February 1908.

Relief works were opened under the Public Works department, which were afterwards on the occurrence of cholera outbreak in the hot weather converted into civil works. The rabi harvest was poor. Good rain fell in August and as prospects were favourable all relief works were closed.

The largest number of units on relief on departmental and civil relief works in one day was 41,009, or within a few hundreds of the number in 1897. Besides the departmental and civil works, 117 aided works were undertaken. The total expenditure of Government on relief was Rs. 6,14,350. Besides this land revenue was suspended to the amount of Rs. 4,84,224, but so rapid and complete was the recovery of the district that the whole of this was collected in the following year.

By 1911, the district was again in a flourishing condition. A very large amount of takavi, 14 lakhs, was distributed: of this over 7 lakhs were for masonary wells; and several unmetalled roads had been improved or constructed, notably those between Subeha and Debiganj, Subeha and Makhdumpur and Kotwa Sarak and Kotwa Jagjiwan Das.

Page 48.—WAGES.

There has been a steady rise in wages. A skilled carpenter or blacksmith now earns 8 to 10 annas a day and ordinary labourers can command 3 to 4 annas in the towns and about 3 annns in the rural tracts. Labour is hard to obtain. This is partly due to the proximity of Lucknow and Fyazabad and also to the fact that many labourers migrate from here to the larger cities of India.

Page 50.—TRADE.

Cane-sugar from Java and also beet sugar is now largely imported from Calcutta for consumption within the district and for export to Gonda and Bahraich. Very little sugar refining is now done at Nawabganj and the refined sugar used in the district is mostly imported from outside.

A European firm of Lucknow have recently opened a steam saw mill at Bahramghat with improved machinery imported from Europe.

Among indigenous manufactures there is a small industry in casting common brass vessels such as lotas especially at Nawabganj and Tikaitnagar.

The Hewett Weaving School at Bara Banki was started in 1907 by Mr. C. A. Sherring, Deputy Commissioner, in order to introduce improved methods of weaving and improved looms among the local weavers. At the same time the Lady Hewett Zenana School was instituted, with the object of teaching women various remunerative handicrafts such as needle work, crochet and drawn thread work.

Page 53.—FAIRS.

The fair at Dewa has increased considerably of late years. In 1912-13, a small industrial and agricultural exhibition was held on the occasion of this fair and it is intended to make this feature an annual institution. The cattle market originated by Chaudhari Asghar Ali, has also very largely expanded.

Page 55.—COMMUNICATIONS.

All the tahsils are now connected with each other and with headquarters by metalled roads.

RAILWAYS.

In 1911, a branch of the Bengal and North-Western Railway from Burhwal to Sitapur was opened. This line runs in a north-western direction from Burhwal junction. There are stations in this district at Sundiamau, tahsil Fatehpur and Bhagauli, the last named being known as Paintepur road. The branch is useful as giving direct access to Sitapur, whence lines now radiate to Lucknow, Bareilly, Balamau and Shahjahanpur.

Page 57.—METALLED ROADS.

The metalling of the road from Daryabad to Haidargarh has been completed. The roads from Daryabad to Jewal, Daryabad to Fatehpur and from Bhilsar to Sarai Barai have also been metalled. There is a metalled road from Fatehpur to Bilahra. There is now no inspection bungalow halfway between Bara Banki and Bahramghat, but there is a good inspection bungalow at Ramnagar near the Burhwal railway station.

Page 59.—FERRIES.

The bridge of boats at Chauka is at present leased to the Bengal and North-Western Railway. All the internal ferries of the district are now let to contractors.

Owing to the silting up of its mouth during recent years the ferries in the Chauka river have much decreased in value.

CHAPTER III.

Page 64.—CENSUS OF 1911.

At the census taken in March 1911, the total population of the district was found to be 1,083,867 of which 564 137 were males and 519,730 females. The decrease was 95,456 or 8·9 per cent. since 1901. The density to the square mile was 615.

The decrease was chiefly due to the ravages of plague.

The proportion of females is now only 90 to 100 males : it is a curious fact however that among Musalmans, there are 96 females to 100 males, while at the census of 1901, the males were outnumbered by the females.

Page 66.—RELIGIONS.

At the last census the numbers classified by religions were as follows :—Hindus 902,297, Muhammadans 180,537, Jainis 602, Christians 221, Aryas 192 and Sikhs 18.

Page 70.—CASTES.

At the 1911 census the Hindu population was shown as divided into 109 castes, not including sub-divisions or clans.

Page 71.—KURMIS.

In 1911 the Kurmis amounted to 144,422 persons, or 16 per cent. of the total Hindu population.

Page 71.—AHIRS.

In 1911 their numbers had fallen to 134,955 representing 14·9 per cent. of the Hindus.

Page 72.—PASIS.

This caste numbered 134,588 at the last census or 14·9 per cent. It is remarkable that this caste has suffered little decrease during the 10 years.

CHAMARS.

In 1911 numbered 91,470 or 10·13 per cent.

BRAHMANS.

Their numbers in 1911 had fallen to 73,008—a decrease of 12,571, and they now form 8 per cent. of the Hindu population.

Page 73.—RAJPUTS.

This caste had fallen in 1911 to 36,828 or 4 per cent. of the Hindus.

Lodhs have fallen to 32,904 or 36 per cent. Koris are now 23,766 or 2·6 per cent. Kahars have decreased in numbers to 13,290 or 1·4 per cent. There is a large emigration of Kahars to Lucknow and other large cities attracted by the higher wages paid there, and there is a general complaint locally that the services of Kahars are hard to obtain.

Muraos are 19,479 or 2·1 per cent. Banias now number only 10,514 and Kayasthas 11,335. Of castes with over 10,000 persons there are the following in numerical order :—Lunias 16,185, Dhobis 14,478, Gadarias 14,105, Bharbhujas 13,592, Barhais 13,112, Nais 12,797, Kumhars 10,606.

Five castes Telis, Gorias, Lohars, Kalwars and Sonars have over 5,000, but less than 10,000 souls. Next in order come Tambolis, Goshains, Bhats, Bhangis, Mailahas, Bansphors, Malis, Halwais, Doms, Nats, Baris, Berias, and a few others all with less than 5,000 persons.

Page 78.—MUSALMANS.

At the last census Muhammadans were shown as divided among 99 castes or tribes including Shaikhs, Pathans, Saiyids and converted Rajputs. No sub-divisions of these last have been shown in the enumeration.

SHAIKHS.

Shaikhs still lead with 31,452 or 17·4 per cent. of the Musalman population.

Page 79.—JULAHAS.

Julahas have fallen to 26,565 and Behnas to 12,802. These tribes together form 20·6 per cent. of the Musalmans.

PATHANS.

There are 17,260 Pathans or 9·5 per cent. The increase since the 1901 census is due to the fact that in 1911 a large number of Musalman Rajputs were enumerated under this head.

Page 80.—FAQIRS.

Faqirs numbered 11,717 or 6·4 per cent. Nais 11,357 or 6·2.

Telis had fallen to 10,920 and Kunjras were as few as 4,499. This large decrease is hard to explain except on the supposition that many Kunjras got themselves enumerated among other classes of Muhammadans.

Page 80.—SAIYIDS.

The Saiyids numbered 6,201 or 3·4 per cent.

MUSALMAN RAJPUTS.

Only 674 persons were shown in 1911 under the head of Muhammadan Rajputs. As has been noted above most of this class got themselves classified as Pathans.

OTHER MUSALMANS.

Darzis numbered 6,725 and Halwais 6,337. Kunjras, Gujars, Dhobis and Manihars numbered over 2,000 and under 5,000, while only 6 tribes had between 1,000 and 2,000, namely Qassabs, Nats, Dafalis, Bhats, Bharbhujas and Gaddis. All the other tribes have under 1,000 members.

Page 81.—OCCUPATIONS.

At the census of 1911, 76·9 per cent. of the population was shown as agricultural and 11·5 as industrial. The commercial population has risen to 3·4 and the professional class was given as only ·7 per cent.

Nearly the whole of the property has been alienated by the proprietor and the whole of the estate will shortly be sold up in execution of civil court decrees.

MAILARAIGANJ.

Shaikh Naushad Ali Khan, died in October 1912, leaving a widow without issue and a heavily encumbered estate.

It was necessary to sell off a very large portion of the property and the estate now consists of four villages, 12 mahals and pattis, with a revenue of Rs. 10,290.

Most of the acquired villages which the late proprietor inherited from Raja Farzand Ali Khan, were purchased by the Raja of Jahangirabad, who was largely instrumental in making the liquidation of the estate possible.

DEWA, MIRPUR.

Maulvi Rafi-ud-din now holds one village and 16 mahals assessed at Rs. 4,891.

DINPANAH.

The revenue is now Rs. 9,889.

CHAPTER IV.

Page 125.

The sanctioned magisterial staff, in addition to the Deputy Commissioner, consists of four Sub-divisional Officers and one Treasury Officer.

14. Chaudhri Asghar Ali.
15. K. B. Mirza Muhammad Yusuf Beg.
16. Rai Rajeshwar Bali of Rampur.

The Subordinate Judge at Bara Banki has been invested with the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge. The two Munsifs of Fatehpur and Ramsanehighat are now stationed at Bara Banki and hold their courts here.

There are five Honorary Munsifs working in the district:—

Rai Chandra Har Bali, with jurisdiction in pargana Daryabad; Shaikh Ejaz Rasul Khan of Jahangirabad in pargana Nawabganj; Chaudhri Saiyid Irshad Husain in pargana Rudauli; Mir Itizad Husain in pargana Satrikh and Partabganj; Raja Bhagwan Bakhsh Singh of Pokhra in parganas Haidargarh and Subehatt.

Three gentlemen have recently been appointed as village Munsifs:—Mir Sajjad Husain of Mitai, Saiyid Muhammad Husain of Kusahri, P. Girja Datt Shukul.

These gentlemen have jurisdiction in defined circles in the neighbourhood of their homes.

The consolidated local cess has been reduced from seven to five per cent. and the police cess from six to four and three quarters per cent.

The patwari rate was abolished in 1906.

The total sum realised in 1912 was Rs. 2,00,857.

Page 135.—ALLUVIAL MAHALS.

Since 1902, changes in the revenue of 26 alluvial mahals have taken place. Of these 11 are in pargana Bado Sarai, nine in Daryabad, four in Rudauli and one each in parganas Muhammadpur and Ramnagar.

The demand is shown in figures X of the appendix.

No changes have occurred in the alluvial villages of the permanently settled estates.

Page 136.—POLICE STATIONS.

There has been no change in the police circles, but the police station that was formerly at Haidargarh has been moved to Lonikatra, and Kutlupur, thana is usually known by the name of Lalpur in which village it is actually situated.

Page 137.—POLICE FORCE.

The regular police force in 1912 numbered 40 sub-inspectors, 18 head constables and 201 men.

These figures exclude the reserve and the armed police. The actual total was 443.

For practical purposes there is now about one member of the regular police force for 8·76 square miles and one for every 5,392 persons.

The municipal police have been abolished and the municipality and notified area are policed by the regular force. The police stationed in the town areas number 75 men only. Rudauli having been raised to the status of a notified area is no longer staffed by town police.

There has been no change in the numbers of road chaukidars and village police.

Of late years there has been a considerable decrease in robbery and dacoity which is probably due largely to the conviction of a large number of persons belonging to the gang of Patan Din in 1907 and 1908.

Better police supervision is also responsible for the improvement.

There is a great deal of petty crime in the district, false complaints are rife, but in recent years at least an outbreak of organised crime is exceptional.

Page 140.—EXCISE.

The district as regards country liquor is now under the contract supply system and the liquor is supplied by the Cawnpore Sugar Works Company. There are two bonded ware houses at Nawabganj and Ramsanehighat. There are four Excise Inspectors—one for each tahsil—on preventive duty, while those at Nawabganj and Ramsanehighat are also in charge of the bonded ware-houses.

The rates of still head duty were raised to Rs. 3 per gallon L.P. or Rs. 2-4-0 per gallon 25 per cent. under proof with effect from April 1907, and on 1st April 1913, a further rise to Rs. 3-8-0 and Rs. 2-10-0 respectively was made.

In and after the famine year there was a great decrease in the consumption of liquor, but during the prosperous years that succeeded the consumption rose rapidly; in spite of the enhanced duty it amounted to 55,239 gallons in 1911-12. This is a large consuming district—with a large population of Pasis, and there is little doubt that the use of liquor is spreading.

The usual price to the consumer is about twelve annas per bottle.

The liquor shops which now number 152 are now put up to auction during the cold weather for the ensuing financial year.

Page 142.—OPIUM.

From 1904—1912 the receipts averaged Rs. 3,458 per annum

HEMP DRUGS.

The contract to sell hemp drugs has now been let out by tahsils for a total amount of Rs. 49,867 for the whole district.

Till April 1914, there was one contractor for the whole district who paid Rs. 40,000 annually for the last three years.

The number of shops has been reduced to 99.

Retail prices are charas Rs. 43 per seer and bhang Re. 1-4-0. Rates of duty are ganja Rs. 11 per seer, charas Rs. 12 per seer and bhang Rs. 4 per maund.

Page 142.—TARI.

There are at present 64 shops for the sale of tari. They are leased to a single contractor for the whole district. The income from this head in 1911-12 was Rs. 1,725.

There is no licensed vendor of cocaine in the district and the habit has not taken any hold.

The average receipts for the whole district from 1901-02 to 1911-12 were Rs 31,608. The average tax paid was Rs. 28, representing an average income of Rs. 1,250. The decrease is due to the exemption of incomes of less than Rs. 1,000.

Page 144.—STAMP.

The increase in the revenue from stamps has been maintained. The income from court-fee stamps in 1911-12 was Rs. 1,40,321 against Rs. 73,782 in 1890-91. The average annual income from 1901-02 to 1911-12 was Rs. 1,69,829.

Page 144.—REGISTRATION.

For registration purposes Bara Banki has now been brought under the District Judge of Lucknow, who is District Registrar.

The average total receipts for the decade ending 1912 were Rs. 11,836. The average expenditure was Rs. 6,389.

Pages 144 AND 145.—POST OFFICE.

There is now no district dâk managed by the District Board.. All the postal arrangements of the district are imperial.

There are now 10 sub-post offices and 49 branch offices in the district.

Page 145.—MUNICIPAL, &c.

The Nawabganj Municipal Board has a non-official chairman and 12 members.

Rudauli was raised to the status of a notified area in 1908; the administration is carried on by a president and four members of the notified area committee.

The District Board is constituted under Act 111 of 1906.

The local boards have been replaced by tahsili committees consisting of the three members of the District Board elected for each tahsil. The tahsildar acts as chairman of the committee. A paid secretary is being entertained.

The bulk of the District Board income consists of the 5 per cent. cess levied on all land-holders, the whole of which is now placed at the disposal of the Board. In 1912, the total income was Rs. 1,65,000.

There has been a great decrease in the income of the bazar and shops at Safdarganj, owing to the building of a new ganj just outside the town.

The inspecting staff now consists of a deputy inspector with three sub-deputy inspectors.

The board contributes Rs. 3,840 annually as grants-in-aid to various schools.

A list of all the schools in the district is given in the appendix. The number of schools rose from 154 in 1901 to 235 in 1911 and the number of scholars from 7,462 to 9,982.

The cost of maintaining these schools is Rs. 37,025 per annum. About Rs. 7,837 is received as fees.

The fees levied in town school are now seven annas a month in the middle section, 3½ annas in the upper primary and 2 annas in the lower primary sections. In 1912, the total amount of fees paid in the town schools was Rs. 2,462 and in the village schools Rs. 3,761.

In the same year 96 out of 152 head teachers were trained.

Page 149.—SCHOOLS.

The High School at Nawabganj is still the only Anglo-Vernacular school in the district. The building is cramped and unsuitable and a new building is badly wanted: the present site does not allow room for expansion. In 1912, there were 258 scholars in the school of whom 12 passed the matriculation examination. In that year Rs. 5,150 was realised in fees.

An eighth middle vernacular school situated at Nawabganj was opened in 1904.

The average number of pupils in 1911-12 was 807.

There were 211 lower primary, including the Nawabganj municipal school. Besides these there are 57 schools for boys which receive a grant-in-aid.

There are two girls' schools in Nawabganj, both of which are managed by the District Board and besides this there is a Model Girls' school, for which buildings are about to be constructed and there is also an aided Mission school for girls.

In the district outside head quarters there are no less than 24 girls' schools managed by the District Board with total average attendance of 473 pupils.

The lack of suitable teachers for girls schools is one great obstacle to the progress of female education.

Page 150.—LITERARY.

The number of scholars attending Government and aided schools in 1911-12 was 4,272, but the proportion of literate males was only 4·3 per cent. The proportion among Musalmans was 5·9, and 3·9 per cent. among Hindus.

The proportion of literate women to the whole female population was ·27 per cent., a large increase since the 1901 census.

Page 151.—DISPENSARIES.

The dispensaries at Ganeshpur and Bilahra were closed in 1911.

The dispensary at Suratganj is managed by the District Board. A new dispensary is about to be opened at Jahangirabad owing to the generosity of the Raja Sir Muhammad Tasadduq Rasul Khan, K.C.S.I.

The total charges for all dispensaries in 1911-12 were Rs. 21,292.
